BULLY FOR JONES!

Somebody has Left Him a Fortune of About $250,000.

Will, we haven't forgotten you! In fact, we never forget old friends, even though they become rich.

Some years ago William H. Jones was in the employ of the writer on the old Republican.

Will was a good printer. But we never expected that he would meet with such a streak of bad luck.

The word now comes that he has fallen heir to $250,000.

The money comes through a wealthy New York couple named Streator, with whom Jones became acquainted while in Brooklyn several years ago.

The couple boarded at the hotel where Jones was staying, and they became attached to him.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Mr. Dudley Martin Came Near Losing an Eye Yesterday.

Mr. Dudley Martin of the firm of Martin Bros., the wholesale confectioners and fruit dealers of East Third street, met with a painful accident yesterday morning.

He had been using the delivery wagon hauling goods from the depot to the store. A part of the shade on the wagon is broken, and a splintered stick was protruding a little on the right side, and in dismounting the end of the stick struck him in the corner of the right eye, inflicting a painful wound.

He had it dressed, but suffered considerable pain yesterday afternoon, but is a little easier this morning.

It is to be hoped the accident will not result in anything serious.

GILBERT-PELL SHOOTING.

What an Eye-Witness Has to Say About the Affair.

Signed by Public Ledger.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 21st, 1896.

Ernest Gilbert and Charles Pell fought a duel with pistols.

They met at Quick's Run at a dance, and Pell swore he was the best man in the house.

Gilbert said, "You want a row with me, don't you? If you are not satisfied with the row we had last Christmas night and want to fight it out come out of the house and we will settle it."

They left the house and Pell drew a pistol and fired.

It was Gilbert's turn next. He drew a revolver instantly and fired two shots at Pell, one taking effect in the left shoulder.

Then Gilbert said, "Boys, I have killed him; I had better go," and he made his escape.

Pell was taken home. He is seriously hurt.

RETURNED TO KENTUCKY.

The Widow of Colonel John Reid, a Mason County Man.

Mrs. John Reid, daughter-in-law of the late Judge Walter Reid of this county, and whose husband died a short time ago at Lexington, Mo., has returned to her former home at Lexington, this state, where she was formerly Miss Kate Hunt, daughter of the late Charles Hunt, Esq., and cousin of Mrs. General Basil Duke and Mrs. General A. P. Hill and General John H. Morgan.

When she was first married she resided with her husband at the old Reid farm, this city, and she speaks of making a visit to see the old place in a short time.

She is said to be perhaps the richest lady in Lexington, and very charitable and unassuming.

She is a well preserved, handsome woman.

Her husband was well known to this county, and removed many years ago to Lexington, Mo., where he amassed a large fortune.

He left no children.

HOME DYES THAT ARE FAST.

Easy to Make Beautiful Colors With the Reliable Diamond Dye.

Scores of women in Maysville are today wearing dresses of fashionable color that would have been thrown aside long ago had it not been for Diamond Dyes. With a ten-cent package of these simple home dyes even the novice can dye a fast and beautiful color equal to the work of the professional dyehouse.

Chaos, capes and shawls are readily dyed, so that a faded garment will look as though it was right from the shop.

Out of the fifty different kinds of Diamond Dyes twelve are special fast colors for cotton and mixed goods that will not crack or fade, even when washed in strong soap.

These dyes are made from a peculiar combination of dyestuffs, and cannot be had except in the Diamond.

For over twenty years Diamond Dyes have been the standard home dyes, and have taken the place of crude dyestuffs and unreliable package dyes in all parts of the world. This marvelous success has been attained by the use of the most reliable, and sold to the trade at a low price, and which a few unscrupulous dealers urge upon their customers. The only way to insure success in home dyeing is to use only the Diamond, the strongest, fastest and most successful of all dyes.

THOS. J. CHICKSWORTH, Postmaster.

A CARD FROM DR. J. W. OSBORN.

Mr. Editor of The Vancubus Sun: I shall be pleased to have you call around with your staff and feather, for I am ready to make it all plain to you. I did not advertise for any outfit, but only for a man of good pluck as a guard and protection. I would like to look through the sights of a Winchester rifle at the men who are so ready to make all plain to you.

Three four rocks at my house, and if they were not cowardly of the blackest type they would come to the front and give me a chance at them. Respectfully,

Dr. J. W. OSBORN.

Did you ever stop to think what indignation really means? It means simply that your stomach is tired. If our legs are tired we ride. The horse and the steam engine do the work. Why not give your stomach a ride? That is, let something else do its work. Food can be digested outside the body. All plants contain digestive principles which will do this. The Shaker Digestive Cord contains digestive principles, and is a preparation designed to rest the stomach. The Shakers themselves have used unbounded confidence in it that they may have placed it into simple bottles on the market, and it is said that even so small a quantity proves beneficial in a vast majority of cases. All druggists keep it.

Laxo is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Diamonds As an Investment!

There isn't anything else which money can be put into that furnishes as good an investment as a Diamond. To be sure it brings in no income, but the enjoyment of its beauty. In a pin, or a ring, in a cardport or a stud it is in use all the time, but it doesn't deteriorate in value, and it can be turned into money instantly.

There may be something more beautiful than a Diamond, but if there is I have never seen it. I try to keep on hand a sufficient stock to satisfy all demands, but should you not find what you want in stock I will get it for you. The price shall be right, of course.

THE NEGRO RACE.

A RETROSPECTIVE AND A PROSPECTIVE VIEW OF IT.

The Opportunities That Are Presented to the Rising Generation for the Elevation and Advancement of the Race.

Woman. But this can be done only by contact with honest, earnest Christian teachers. It is contact that the Negro wants, and needs badly.

There is a special privilege for the Negro, but I demand that he be accorded free access to those privileges—God-given—which every citizen of the United States enjoys except himself. We cannot hope to elevate the race, suppress vice and ignorance when laws are passed which make which have a tendency to deprive us of every vestige of man and womanhood.

Among the recent causes which, in God's providence, have conducted to change the attitude of this country towards the Negro I perceive none so promising, none so successful in its results, as the Cotton States Exposition at Atlanta.

There the Negro was given an opportunity and for the first time in the history of the world—to demonstrate his ability as a potent factor in the future development of this country, to prove his right to citizenship and show to the world that he was a man for a "real" thing.

A fitting climax to this was the call for the women of the race to meet in a convention and there discuss the questions that are of such vital importance to every race-loving American Negro. According to the report of December, 1895, the first Congress of Colored Women of the United States assembled in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., and demonstrated to the world the well known fact to their moral, physical and social betterment. In their hands is the destiny of the race. Women is the moral power. She is the axis upon which generations must turn. We believe that as the Negro woman points, so events affecting the race will tend. Many of our people make them. They are guided either by her power, her encouragement or her love. Knowing that the future depends upon our girls, we formed resolutions looking to their moral, physical and social betterment, feeling sure that if the girls were taught a high standard of morality the boys would conform to it.

By special invitation from the City Council, Mayor, Chamber of Commerce and the Centennial Commissioners of the city of Nashville, Tenn., we will hold our next meeting in that city some time during their Centennial Exposition. But we feel that the Cotton States Exposition will tend to our hearts and souls, making such a meeting which is destined to do much good, and the time seems not far from any of us when the lion and the lamb will lie down together.

FATAL FLAMES.

Five Story Building in St. Louis Destroyed by Fire.

A Floor Collapsed, Burying Four Members of the Salvage Corps.

Three men shocked into insensibility by live electric wires—loss on building and stock worth $100,000.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—At 10 o'clock Tuesday night fire destroyed the five-story building at No. 415 North Broadway, occupied by A. S. Rice & Co., opticians. The rear of the building stands on a ten-foot alley, and through this alley runs a mass of electric wires, rendering the work of the firemen difficult and hazardous. Three men were shocked into insensibility by contact with wires, and Foreman Ernest Eugene Rice, who was working on a ladder and was seriously injured by the fall. Twenty-two streams of water were poured ineffectively upon the flames while the salvage corps were covering show-cases on the second floor, the floor collapsed and went to the basement. Four of the salvage men are in the ruins and there is no hope of rescuing them alive. They are in the center of the building, covered with a mass of heavy packing cases. Cries for help grew fainter as time passed, and at 11 o'clock they had ceased.

Their names are: Reine Miller, James Roddy, John Glenville, Henry Kiley. While the firemen were working to save their unfortunate comrades the fire took a new start and the rescue work for the time being was abandoned. The stock was the most complete of its character in the west, and the loss will be fully $100,000. Insurance is ample. Adjoining business houses suffered considerably from water and smoke. Mr. R. Rice, a member of the firm, was married Tuesday evening in Philadelphia.

CUBAN BELLIGERENTS.

A Probability That They Will Be Recognized by This Government in a Few Days.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A Washington special says: Conditions may arise within the next ten days under which President Cleveland will see his way clear for a recognition of the belligerents of Cuba. The interview with Congressman McMillin, of Tennessee, printed in Tuesday morning's dispatches, in which he predicts that the president will shortly recognize the belligerents, finds confirmation in many sources here Tuesday.

Administration men have been guarding a secret for the past few days. It seems, which relates to the president's Cuban policy. They say that Mr. Cleveland will play a master diplomatic card in a few days that will make his foreign policy more popular. It is possible, that it was after his Venezuelan message.

The most accurate information to be obtained on the subject is that the president has intimations to Senator Lome, the Spanish minister, that unless Spain suppresses the rebellion in a short time the independence of the island will be recognized by the government, to the end that protection may be afforded the lives and property of Americans in Cuba.

Third Appropriation Bill Passed. WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The House Tuesday passed its third appropriation bill that provides for urgent deficiencies for current and past fiscal years, reported Monday. The total amount carried by the bill as prepared by the committee on appropriations was $4,455,923 and as passed by the house $4,450,463. Nearly three-quarters of the amount is for the navy, which was for current expenses, largely for witnesses, deputy marshals and commissioners, and much of the debate on the bill was devoted to the question of reform in the fee system, which now prevails.

Navy Appropriation Bill Passed. NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 22.—The torpedo outfit for the battleship Oregon was shipped from the torpedo station Tuesday. It consists of ten Whitehead torpedoes, in all a full complement, which will go across the continent to the island navy yard, and will arrive there long in advance of the completion of the ship. This will be the first outfit delivered to the United States ship before she has gone into commission.

Ship Owners Syndicate Fails. LONDON, Jan. 22.—The case of the syndicate of ship owners formed in 1894 for the purpose of doing a marine insurance business was before the London bankruptcy court Tuesday. The failure of the syndicate, the gross liabilities of which are placed at 400,000 francs, was ascribed by eight of its members to the failure of the syndicate to meet the claims of the winter of 1894 and the consequent large loss of vessels.

NAPHTHA EXPLODES.

A Fire Story Building Gated by Fire—Three Men Killed.

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 22.—The fire story building at No. 125 State street, just opposite Orange street, was destroyed by fire before noon Tuesday. The fire had its origin in the quarters of the third floor, occupied by Frank Pfeiffer, a manufacturer machinist, and this gentleman acknowledged Tuesday afternoon that he was smoking in the sidewalk left its force. Before the fire department arrived at the scene the flames, fed by oils and other inflammables, had penetrated to every portion of the building and shooting through all the windows in immense volume, ascended high above the structure. In the machine shop of Frank Pfeiffer, new gas machines were being put in order. While Joseph Hauser, a tool maker, was at work on one, it exploded with a terrific report. The whole front of the building was blown out and fragments of heavy plate glass windows were hurled across the street against the Chamberlain building and across Orange street. The explosion was the explosion. His right leg was torn off at the ankle and the left leg was broken. The explosion was the explosion. THE LONDON TIMES

Comments on the Venezuelan Commission and the Honorary Dispute.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Times Wednesday gives an unusual opinion to a Washington dispatch sent to it by its correspondent. Mr. Smalley, asserting that the Venezuelan commission the existence in the white house and the state department of a strong and cordial wish for an agreement, and the existence of a dispute with Great Britain on terms that will involve no discredit to either government, and also the existence of the belief that such a settlement may be speedily reached. Mr. Smalley adds that good advice has already been given, and that it may be given more effectively.

The Times, commenting on the foregoing and Mr. Smalley's assertions, says: There has been a sudden change in the spirit of the senate, will express its pleasure at the cheering news. The absence of a desire to hasten Senator Davis' resolution, it says, will allow time for the forces that are making for peace to operate. The joint statement of the conciliatory and modest language of Justice Brewer's letter to Secretary Olney, but says it thinks it must be obvious to the American people that the origin of the Venezuelan commission and the manner in which its creation is regarded.

States that it altogether impossible for Great Britain to recognize its doing, either directly or indirectly. Lord Salisbury's unwillingness to arbitrate concerning disputes settled years ago by British subjects and the British government, and the American government must be well aware of the perfect willingness on this side to discard the Schomburgk line and arbitrate on the boundary territory, excluding only the districts the British or Venezuelans have permanently settled. The negotiations are open for Venezuela to seek at any time. It certainly would not be rejected here, but it is impossible for Great Britain to recognize its doing, either directly or indirectly. Lord Salisbury's unwillingness to arbitrate concerning disputes settled years ago by British subjects and the British government, and the American government must be well aware of the perfect willingness on this side to discard the Schomburgk line and arbitrate on the boundary territory, excluding only the districts the British or Venezuelans have permanently settled.

THE STORY DENIED.

Brazil Made No Demand on England for the Restitution of the Island of Trinidad.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Brazilian legation here denies the story printed by the Press of Buenos Ayres to the effect that Senator Carrasco, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs would demand from Great Britain the immediate restitution of the island of Trinidad, off the coast of Brazil, which was recently occupied by the British, and which is claimed as her territory. The Press stated in the event of the demand being refused by the British, Brazil would probably rupture. It was stated at the consulate that although British forces are to arbitrate the question of the ownership of the island, the negotiations to decide the question would be continued.

THE SQUADRON.

Alarming Rumors Lately in Circulation Dissipated.

Hon. Geo. Goheen Says It Is Not a Menace to Any Country.

No It Is Devised for Any Particular Part of the World—The Squadron Goes to the Sea to Destroy a Menace to the United States in Case of Emergency.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Right Hon. George Goheen, first lord of the admiralty, made a speech at Crutchead Tuesday in the course of which he said he wished to dissipate the alarming rumors that were in circulation. Referring to the flying squadron, he said it was intended for use in any emergency in any direction. It would go to Beecham, without taking sealed orders, and he would proceed to that point in the world. The flying squadron was not intended as a menace to any country, nor was it destined for any particular quarter of the world. It would be used as other squadrons are used.

Mr. Goheen appealed to the public, if for any reason the government had been ordered anywhere, not imagining that it had been sent to menace anybody. The disposal of the squadron would be guided by the necessities of the situation. He said that the government had not proposed to adopt sensational measures, but would continue as hitherto to steadily augment the number of ships, and he said in order to maintain supremacy on the sea and to secure the nation from panic whenever there were clouds on the political horizon.

LORD SALISBURY

Urged to Comply With the Request to Lay Down the Side of the Dispute.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Daily News with Wednesday says, in connection with the letter of the Venezuelan commission requesting Secretary Olney to ask Great Britain and Venezuela to lay before the commission their sides of the boundary dispute, that Justice Brewer displayed great reluctance in drafting the letter. It adds that the request of Lord Salisbury an opportunity that ought not to be lost. The prime minister would act with wisdom and dignity if he complied with the request.

Explorer Astrup's Body Found.

CHRISTIANIA, Jan. 22.—The body of the explorer, who was with Lieutenant Pryor in his first expedition to Greenland, Tuesday found him dead in the Little Ekevald valley in the Dorset field mountains. Astrup started a few days before Christmas for the purpose of making a ski-expedition in the mountains. He was gone about three weeks when his friends heard nothing more of him. He was found in a frozen state, and a party to go in search of him.

WE EAT TOO MUCH.

Twelve Ounces of Food is a Meal for a Brain Worker.

The present mode of eating now practiced by the unscientific public at diverse tables of hotels, banquets and boarding houses boards three times a day, 365 days in the year is entirely all wrong. The unscientific public eats too much. In an article in the Food Reform Magazine, Dr. Nichols declares that the average quantity of water-free aliment required, say by business and literary men, is 12 ounces, and that men of great muscular activity are well fed on 16 to 20 ounces. Dr. Nichols advises to find the minimum quantity which enables a man to do his daily work without loss of weight, by experiment, and then habitually keep to it.

In the midst of the dietary counsels of the vegetarians on the one side and the raw beef and hot-water theorists on the other, it is interesting to contemplate the possibilities of the eating of the future. It is probable that eating in the 20th century will be reduced to a minimum. The quantity of food thereafter be abolished altogether, if the present trend of scientific dietetic discovery continues. The good old custom of changing the diet of the day are decided as barbarous indulgence of the animal appetite, and it is only necessary to attend a high ten of a woman or of a student of medicine of neoking-school graduate to find evidence of the eternalization of the latter-day eating. Up to date no table d'hôte has addressed the human of the metric system, and no restaurant has served meals by the ounce. But Americans are a nation of dyspeptics, and the end is not yet.

HOME LIFE AMONG RED MEN.

Plains Indians Have Little Idea of the Refinement of Civilization.

It was storming hard and getting colder, and I was shivering when, about three o'clock, I started out. I came upon a log hut, and two trails that bore away in different directions, writes C. W. Whitney, in Harper's Magazine. I went a couple of miles and found a small cabin, and I found myself for a few moments busily engaged in thinking about the Indians. It was a very small cabin, barely ten feet square, I should say, with a parchment-covered floor in the wall for windows. I was looking at the door when I heard a sound of a bow being drawn and a arrow being loosed. I do not know how many Indians were in that hut, but I remember seeing several. They were all dressed in the same way, and they were all armed with bows and arrows. They were all looking at me with a curious expression on their faces. I do not know what they were thinking, but I felt that I was in a very dangerous position.

AFRICAN IVORY IS THE BEST.

More Durable and Capable of Higher Artistic Use Than Any Other.

African ivory is now considered to be the finest. The first quality of this comes from the coast of the Congo, and it has been remarked with regard to this fact that the nearer the equator the smaller the elephant, but the larger the ivory. The ivory of the equatorial Africa, says Chamber's Journal, is closer in the grain and has less tendency to become yellow by exposure than the ivory of the temperate zone. It is believed to deteriorate in quality and to be more liable to damage with increase of latitude in either direction. The whitest ivory comes from the east coast. It is considered to be in best condition when recently cut; it has then a mellow, warm, transparent tint. If soaked in oil, and very little oil, it becomes a dull, opaque, and its appearance of grain or texture. Indian ivory has an opaque, dead-white color, and a tendency to become discolored. The ivory of the mammoth is not very much esteemed, particularly in England; it is considered too dry and brittle for elaborate work, besides which it is very liable to turn yellow. As a matter of fact, the larger tusks very rarely leave Asiatic Russia, being too rotten for industrial purposes.

A Diamond Wedding.

An event at all times sufficiently rare to create interest, and more especially in this country, has taken place in the small village of Ologies, in the department of the Ardennes. The bride and groom were both of the name of Ologies. An old couple, M. and Mrs. Andrieu, amid the rejoicings of the whole parish, celebrated recently their diamond wedding. The husband first saw the light in 1810, and his wife was born five years later. The cure who officiated on the occasion of the golden wedding of this happy old couple, and who has been a minister of the gospel for nearly 60 years, is now a hale and hearty old man, and hopefully looks forward to still some years of married life. Although he is now somewhat feeble, and required the stalwart arm of a grandson, who is a non-communized officer, to lean on.

Send for the Queen.

When you read in the newspapers, on the dissolution of a ministry, that the queen sent for any particular personage to form another, you must not suppose it was her own inclination dictated the choice. It is a duty which she owes to the advice of the retiring minister as to the successor he may deem most fitted for the office.

"Saved My Life."

A VETERAN'S STORY.

"Several years ago, while in Fort Snelling, Minn., I caught a severe cold, attended with a terrible cough, that allowed me no rest day or night. The doctors after exhausting their remedies, pronounced my case hopeless, saying they could do no more for me. At this time a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was sent to me by a friend who urged me to take it, which I did, and soon after I was greatly relieved, and in a short time was completely cured. I have verbal proof of a cough since that time, and I firmly believe Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—W. H. WARD, 8 Quimby Ave., Lowell, Mass.

THE MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN

WEEKLY PUBLIC LEDGER.

Did it?

Do you ever think that relatives or friends who have moved to distant places—your wife, perhaps, to grow up with the country—are always glad to hear from their "old Kentucky home"? And did it ever occur to you that a single copy of THE MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN—the weekly edition of THE Public Ledger—contains more home news than you could embrace in a hundred ordinary letters? And did it ever strike you that you can send the paper to your relatives and friends for a whole year at less cost than you can write a letter every week? Besides, don't you think a year's subscription to THE REPUBLICAN would be a present highly appreciated by those as a distance? Suppose you try it and hear what they have to say on the subject.
